VALVES, FITTINGS AND PIPING

Plumbing and Heating Equipment for every industry and every home from ONE COMPLETE LINE CRANE

Here's a grand rule of thumb to follow: if it's anything in piping, plumbing or heating equipment, count on CRANE.

An unequalled selection of VALVES AND FITTINGS is offered for your selection in the complete Crane line—for every power, process or general service need. Crane brass, iron, steel and alloy piping materials are recognized for durable and dependable performance. Crane Quality means long service life . . . less maintenance . . . low ultimate cost.

In PLUMBING FIXTURES, as with valves and fittings, the name CRANE is synonymous with finest quality—in beauty of design, durability and convenience features. Bathtubs and lavatories, toilets and urinals, kitchen sinks and laundry tubs . . . all are available in a wide choice of styles, materials and prices. Many of these fixtures are available in eight attractive colours as well as white.

In HEATING, too, you can depend on Crane to meet the specific need—a hot water or steam boiler of the right type and capacity—hot water heaters—standard or concealed radiators, or radiant baseboard panels.

Whether it be for home or apartment, for school, church or store, there is a Crane installation to assure dependable heating service.

*Descriptive literature on any phase of Crane Service gladly supplied. Ask any Plumbing and Heating Contractor or Crane
Branch—or write direct to Crane Limited, 1170 Beaver Hall Square, Montreal.*

An Open Letter To All Editors

by

LAWRENCE M. LANDE

Dear Mr. Editor:

From time to time, especially of recent date, I have noticed in your column many editorials on the ever increasing number of traffic accidents in this city. Is not your solution of stricter laws, more laws, greater enforcement of laws—in plain words putting “the cart before the horse”—and in this Province without a light? Laws will not make safe drivers or courteous drivers. The right form of instruction will do it—such as knowing more than something about how to drive a car—the psychology of driving a car—and the rules of the road; instruction that has been tried and tested with excellent results by some of the progressive schools in the United States, resulting in Insurance rates being reduced in such districts. What an excellent medium Television could be!

Believe me Sir, it is much easier to make a law than it is to make a law abiding citizen; much easier to construct a school than to make constructive changes in its curriculum. That much I know, I have tried to get a hearing from the School boards on the subject, more than once and it is more or less pounding the air.

We live in a congested community to-day. We live with the machine, and the more power man has, the more responsibility he has to his fellowman. But that responsibility can only be taught at home, or failing that in the school.

Mr. Editor, why not start at the right end? It is far less costly even though more difficult. But this difficulty of giving something to our youngsters more than laws will surely repay the effort.

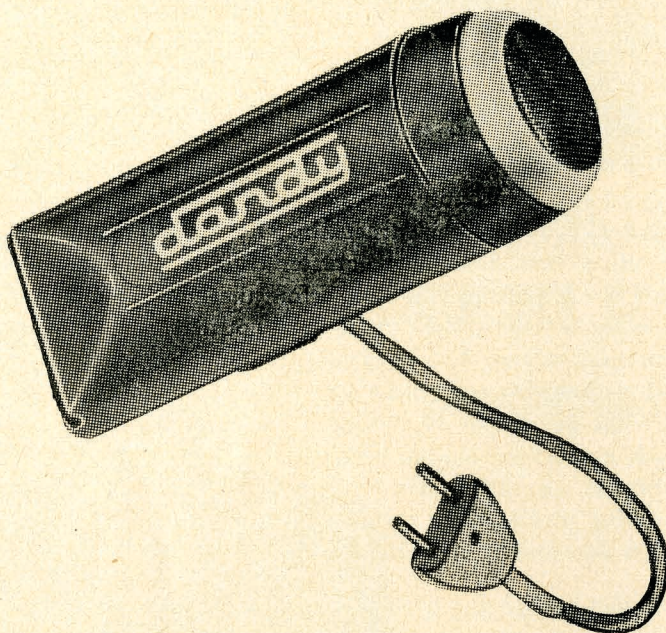

Sincerely,

LAWRENCE M. LANDE, president of

Record Enrollment Shows Need For New Building

By Dr. K. E. NORRIS

Principal, Sir George Williams College

THE MOST active and hectic registration period in the College's history has come to a close, with enrollment continuing its steady upward climb in all units of the College and Schools. Increases have been recorded in all units of the institution,—the College itself, particularly the Evening Division, showing the most spectacular gains. Total figures this year will be about 300 in excess of last year's and will indicate the largest registration the College has had. The registrar is still trying to devise methods of eliminating the excessive rush of opening day, and at the same time be fair to former students who deserve and require the first chance to choose courses which may fill up early in the registration period. Further changes in procedure may be expected next year. Total enrollment in the College and Schools last year reached 6,500 students. It will probably go to 6,700 or 6,800 this year, the College alone accounting for probably 3,800 of them.

Plans for the new building are still actively on the agenda, and are engaging the continuous attention of the Planning and Building Committees. There is every indication that demolition of buildings presently occupying the site may commence as scheduled in May or June, 1954, and the building be ready for occupancy some time in 1956. That means that the Day students who are freshmen this year will spend their final year in the new plant. The elimination of the multifarious annexes will be a great boon to the operation of the College and a great day for the student body.

The College has been represented at three anniversary celebrations of three institutions in recent months. At the fiftieth anniversary of MacDonald Institute of the Guelph Agricultural College, Sir George was represented by Mr. George Barker of Toronto, a graduate of this College; the Principal represented the College at the centenary celebrations at St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N.S. in September; and the Registrar, Mr. Douglass Burns Clarke, was our representative at the centenary of the founding of University College of the University of Toronto and the installation of Dr. Samuel Beatty as the new Chancellor of the University.

New College Building To Be Ready By 1956

COLLEGE officials have announced that the "new Sir George Williams College," designed to accommodate some 6,000 students, will likely be completed by early 1956.

The building, to be constructed south of the Central 'Y' building on Drummond street, is expected to start "going up" in the spring of 1954.

Efforts are still continuing to reach the financial goal set for the Y.M.C.A. Building Fund Campaign, but the process of planning and estimating the new structure is in full swing.

The new building will provide large, well-equipped classrooms, laboratories, and executive offices. The library will be extended and enlarged but will remain in the Central 'Y' building. Annexes now used by the college will no longer be required. The Business and High School will stay in the main building, but will occupy most of the space now used by the college.

At present there is no report that the faculty will increase appreciably with the new building—probably no more than it normally would in the course of the yearly growth of the college. Some changes and additions will likely be necessary.

It was reported that the college part of the building fund campaign—including students, faculty, and alumni—netted a total of $31,000. The figure is still climbing. The original goal of the group was $22,000.

A college official noted that the original plans for the new building were used as a basis on which the goal of the campaign was set. They are now being revised and worked out in exact detail, he said.

"PENTOX" MORE IMPORTANT THAN PAINT

Do you have trouble with warped doors sticking windows?  Haven't you often seen sagging porches with blistering, peeling, paint and rotting wood all caused by moisture.  paint's greatest enemy?

Help prevent this moisture damage by giving your paint job a proper foundation with "Pentox" before painting.

Time-tested and fully proven, "Pentox" seals the pores of the wood  against penetration of harmful moisture  which causes rot, warping and swelling.

On any new wood,  insure a longer-lasting paint job by applying low-cost "Pentox" before you paint.

"Pentox" preserves wood — paint beautifies the surface.

"ARRANT SNOBBERY"?

Call You Mister? Yes, If You're A Grad

NOT UNLESS you're a college graduate can you assume the title of "Mister," according to a recent United Press report, quoting Capt. Iain Moncreiffe, husband of the Lord High Constable of Scotland, the Countess of Errol.

In a story by Robert Musel the nobleman was quoted as saying it was "arrant snobbery" to go around calling yourself Mister unless you have the right to call yourself one.

And according to Capt. Moncreiffe—you haven't got the right unless you are, among other things, a university graduate.

Moncreiffe is an authority on lineage and titles. He serves in the Scots Court that rules on coats of arms and other chivalric matters.

The question also arose as to who has the right to have "Esq." after his name—Moncreiffe ruled that in Britain, esquires officially are the sons of peers and knights and certain judges, lawyers and law officers.

But Capt. Moncreiffe doesn't believe this problem is as serious as the loosely-used term of Mister. You can be born an esquire, he said. "but nobody can be born a Mister."

"Mister is correctly the style of a university graduate and can only be achieved through a certain amount of personal merit," he said. "What arrant snobbery it is to assume the title of Mister!"

Moncreiffe, one of Britain's most blue-blooded noblemen, said he yearned for the "straightforward unsnobbish days" when "the man who was not entitled to a style was not given it, and plain John Smith used neither prefix nor suffix."

THE EDITOR ASKS:

Where Is '51's $200 Gift?

SOME graduates are wondering "if and when" a $200 gift donated by the Class of '51 is going to be used to buy office equipment for the alumni office.

Actually though, if the equipment was bought now there'd be no place to put it. Since summer our permanent alumni secretary, Joyce Beddows, has moved her 'office' to the third floor of the 'Y'. But she has not as yet been given an office, only a corner desk.

But that brings us back to the other question—when will the $200 be spent for much-needed equipment?

Marketing, Sales Courses Opened at Sir George

SPECIAL courses in marketing and sales management, made possible through cooperation of the Advertising and Sales Club of Montreal, will be held this year at Sir George beginning Oct. 7.

After studying the situation with a special educational committee of the club and reviewing training facilities available, the college completed arrangements for the sales management course and introductory advanced courses in marketing a college official announced.

Lectures will be held every Wednesday evening at 8.25 until Jan. 20. Officials point out that the marketing lectures will be restricted to 50 students, divided into two classes.

A certificate is presented in each course to those passing. In addition each counts as a half course toward a B.Com. degree or Diplôme of Associate in Commerce.

It has been noted that previous university commerce courses have covered largely accountancy, and in some cases Marketing principles, but did not adequately reach into the other important field of Sales Management. The need for more adequate university training in this field has been recognized for years, a college official commented.

FIRST OFF — this column has an apology to make to Mr. J. R. Ufford and Miss Marian Maxwell — in our last issue we stated that Jack Ufford and Audrey Hanley were engaged and planning a spring wedding, actually it is Jack and Marian who will be wedded in the spring . . . They have been engaged since Dec. '52 . . . We hear from Toronto that Rev. George A. Stegen, of S.G.W.G. fame, studying at Trinity College, has been ordained to the diaconate — the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston F. Stegen, of Montreal, he will work in the Parish of Kelowna, B.C. . . . Congratulations to Neola Cassidy, class of '52, and Douglas Thacker, McGill '50, on their recent marriage held in Wesley United Church . . . Rev. Stanley Matthews, former Postgrad editor, back in Montreal where he married his brother, Lorne, to Miss Margaret Hale at St. Luke's United Church, Aug. '22, but headed back to McGraw, N.Y., where he is minister at the Presbyterian Church . . .

Best wishes go out to Henry Worrell, college bursar, and his lovely wife, the former Thora Lewis, a student at Sir George and secretary to the high school principal, on their July wedding, held at the St. Thomas More Church, Verdun . . . Word has reached us that a former Georgian, Wing Cmdr. E. L. (Wally) Wurtele, has been appointed air attache to Norway and Denmark — Wally is a native of Saint John, N.B. . . . Is it true that Prof. Rothney is not returning to the college from Newfoundland? . . . Walter Harris (Arts '40) and his wife, the former, Pauline Hodge, and also former secretary to the dean, paid a recent visit to the college, renewing old acquaintances — he's general secretary of the Lethbridge Y.M.C.A. . . .

Here's a trip you ought to take when you're around the college someday—pictures of the graduating classes from the "guinea pig" year, 1936-37, to this year's class have been hung permanently in the corridors and you can follow the college progress by starting in the College office, go round the office, and then around the corridors to the elevator. You're sure to find yourself.

Percy Black, Sc. '44, has resigned as assistant professor at U.N.B. and is heading for England to do research in psychology at the University of London—This Fall, Watts and Co. are publishing his "The Mystique of Modern Monarchy." . . . Aside to George—still trying to locate Bill Kinrade . . . Roger Rousseau, Comm. '48, now Canadian Trade Commissioner in New Orleans—never underestimate the power of a Georgian . . .

Strictly Georgian—Ralph Malone in his last year of Medicine at Queen's University, Belfast, Ireland . . . Oscar Dorfman making impressions in the Snowdon district—he's a dentist . . . Did you know that Dino Bandeira, star Winnipeg Blue Bomber, graduated in Science from Sir George in '48—is married to the former Beverley Schulman . . . Harry Pinker tied the knot recently . . . Donnacona—likes to be near the college . . . George Bishop, formerly of CJAD, now script-writing in Hollywood . . . Two recent grads Trevor Phillips and Steve Montague at the School for Teachers, Macdonald College . . . Bill Aaron and Ralph Arsenault had themselves quite a day in Ottawa recently, but that was before William became a married man—the better half is Mary Homza, one of the most popular girls at Sir George—incidentally she was “staged” at a party in her honor not too long ago at the Hammond home . . .

Lambert Mayer, a commerce grad, plugging for his first “million dollar table” in insurance . . . Jacques Simard busy in the oil business down in Corpus Christi, Texas . . . Congratulations to Bob Strange on his recent marriage to Beverley Anne Woodward, R.N., both of St. Lambert—Miss Woodward is a graduate of the Montreal General Hospital School of Nursing and “Rapid Robert” left Sir George in '52 with a Commerce degree . . . Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Braithwaite—she was Nancy Slayton—down in Levittstown, N.Y. for a few months on a business jaunt . . . Mr. and Mrs. Stan Kis—she was Adele Doveika—settled in their new apartment . . . Gill and Bob send regards to Patty and Don Cooke in Hamilton—hope to see you again soon . . . Congrats to Bill Hamilton on his election in N.D.G. . . . Gord McFarlane and wife Mary now “at home” in Buckingham, near Ottawa—he's teaching school there . . . Max Shenker and John Hannan both entering law at McGill this Fall . . . Alex and Joan Shatilla have moved out St. Laurent way a few doors away from newly-weds, Chris and Heather McFarland . . . WHAT MORE CAN YOU ASK OF A CAREER ?

Before you make your final choice of a career, you should investigate the advantages of retailing. The retail field is full of interest and excitement — yet it's a stable, substantial, useful business.

In retailing, for example, the results of good work are apparent every day. Ability shows up quickly.

A Department Store provides a large variety of occupations, and scope for many different abilities and interests. The relatively high number of key jobs provides ample channels for advancement.

Simpson's has a fine record of 80 years' progress and expansion in step with the growth of our country. If you'd like to know more about the advantages of retailing as a career, the Employment Manager at Simpson's will be pleased to see you.

THE ROBERT SIMPSON COMPANY LIMITED

Students "Earn and Learn" at School of Retailing

THE FIRST School of Retailing to be opened in Montreal began classes as a unit of Sir George Williams College on Sept. 14.

Dr. K. E. Norris, principal, announced that Miss Florence B. Greene, formerly of the Metropolitan staff of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. has been appointed coordinator of the school. The course continues until June 30.

Dr. Norris described the new school as a practical one-year course designed to give young people interested in a retailing career a realistic introduction to the field.

Seven local stores behind scheme are: Henry Birks and Sons, Dupuis Freres Ltée., The T. Eaton Co. Ltd., Jas. A. Ogilvy's Ltd., Simpson's Montreal Ltd., Henry Morgan and Co. Ltd., and Steinberg's Wholesale Groceries Ltd.

The school and the stores associated with it have jointly planned the details of study, which will be divided between classroom instruction and practical working experience. It is expected that each student will, in the course of the year, work for pay in at least two of the stores. In that way, the students will earn while they learn, and acquire experience in actual working conditions.

Public speaking, instruction in salesmanship, and individual counselling aimed at poise and personality development will also be emphasized in the course.

Dr. Norris said that all aspects of instruction are designed to give students an overall knowledge of retailing and related activities. Graduates will enter the field at the sales level or in comparable positions, knowing the possibilities of advancement and with basic training for their ultimate goals.

Instructors have been selected from the executive staffs of the stores and from the teaching staff of Sir George Williams College and Business School.

Students attend classes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 a.m. to 3.30 p.m.—a special project on Wednesday afternoons will consist of visits by the school, in groups, to various manufacturers and stores.

Students will work in stores on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and will be paid for their work at the usual rate for junior staff, 75 cents per hour. During December, they will work full time in the stores. Normally, a student will have a chance to work in two or more of the cooperating stores during his training period.

Nearly 1,000 Future Georgians Register in First 24 Hours

W nearly 1,000 students enrolled in the college and its schools, Douglas B. ITHIN the first 24 hours of registration at Sir George Williams College Clarke, registrar, told The Postgrad.

A total of 962 former day and evening students registered on September 8 and 9. The registration figure is well above last year's number for the same period, a college official noted.

There were 149 enrolments in the day college; 686 in the evening division; 125 in the high school; 38 in the business school. The remainder of the registrations were distributed among art, business and other schools. A total of 462 courses are being offered this year.

The first day of the registration some prospective students in line outside Budge Hall had been waiting for three hours for the doors to open.

"Last year about 800 registered on opening day," Mr. Clarke commented, "but this year is even busier."

Some prospective students who arrived at the peak of the day's rush spent six hours standing in line, filling out forms and receiving approval of the courses they had selected.

At one point the line stretched from the registration centre in Budge Hall along a corridor, around the outer rim of the Central Y lobby and out into Drummond street.

Motive of the first-day applicants was to register for courses before they were filled. By 9 p.m. three courses were posted on a blackboard as "closed."

Sir George which had its beginnings 79 years ago as the educational arm of the Montreal Y.M.C.A., offers undergraduate training in three faculties—arts, science and commerce. Last year there were 3,550 students in the day and evening divisions.

Day students can normally win a degree after four years of study, but for students who study at night six or seven years is the usual time.

New Faculty at Ottawa U

ESTABLISHMENT of a new faculty of pure and applied science and appointment of a University of Montreal staff member as its first dean was announced recently by the University of Ottawa.

Dr. Pierre Gendron, officer commanding of the University Naval Training Division at the U. of M., will be the new dean. Dr. Gendron was awarded a Ph.D. in chemistry by the U. of M. four years ago.

The faculty will combine courses currently offered by the School of Applied Science and by the arts faculty. In addition a four-year course in chemical engineering will be offered.

A chemical engineering laboratory to be built during the coming year is expected to be opened in September, 1954.

The university's departments of chemistry, physics and mathematics will offer pass and honors degree undergraduate courses, as well as post-graduate training for master's and doctor's degrees.

A lieutenant-commander in the Royal Canadian Navy reserve, Dr. Gendron served in the navy from 1941 to 1945. He is director of scientific affairs of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

Very Rev. R. Normandin, rector, announced that other appointments to the new faculty will be made soon.

THE University of Montreal is also busy setting registration records.

Total figures for classes, which began in September, though not complete, show that registration is well above last year's 3,575—student total.

"The faculties of medicine, law and engineering have an increasing number of students enrolled," a university official noted. In medicine, 521 students have enrolled, 15 more than last year. In the freshman year alone 128 students registered in the faculty of medicine.

Some 600 students enrolled in all engineering classes. The faculty of law has 60 more students than in 1952. About 130 were enrolled for the first year courses, bringing the total registration to almost 400.

In one extension course leading to a B.A. degree for adults, registration has doubled from 200 in 1952 to 400 this year.

Australian Raps College Specialization

EXCESSIVE specialization in university training throughout the educational world was criticized recently in Montreal by Sir John Morris, chief justice of Tasmania and chancellor of Hobart University.

"Students have to devote too much time to becoming proficient in their own professions. The danger that a student will know about his own subject and nothing more grows in productions to the study he puts into it," he said.

The leading Australian educator was visiting McGill University while on a four-month overseas tour. He arrived from Britain where he attended a Commonwealth Universities Conference at Cambridge.

More than 600 Commonwealth and American delegates discussed university problems at the conference.

"All universities should try to tackle this acute problem of excessive specialization. Knowledge grows so much volume each year that more and more of a student's time is necessary to make him proficient in his specialized field, Sir John stated.

"Another problem is to find some way to get the mass of the people interested in adult education. There are still too many men and women in every country that adult education has never appealed to," he said.

Registrar's Office Busy During August Rush

INTERVIEWS with prospective students kept the Registrar's Office at Sir George Williams College open throughout the day and evening in August, according to Registrar Douglas P. Clarke. Student applications were well above last year.

A total of 462 courses are being given this year in the Evening Division alone. Last year more than two-thirds of the total enrollment of 6,557 students studied at night. Sir George Williams College and Schools, par of the Montreal Y.M.C.A., includes besides the college, a high school, elementary school, business school, school of art, and, for the first time, a school of retailing.

Ages of students seeking to continue their education range from 17 to 50, Mr. Clarke said. Most of the students in the Day Division are coming to College straight from high school. The far greater number of students, those in the Evening Division, however, are adults who are planning to work at jobs and study on a part-time basis. A student ready to begin at college level, can expect to get his degree in six years, studying at night and continuing to work at his full-time occupation, Mr. Clarke said. Degrees offered at Sir George Williams, include bachelor of arts, of science, and of commerce.

Every prospective students is interviewed before registration by Mr. Clarke or a member of his staff. These preliminary interviews are helpful in guiding the student in his course of study, particularly if he is one of the many who must carry their courses in addition to a full-time job.

One interview which Mr. Clarke particularly remembers was with a newcomer to Canada, a man in his 30's, who had been in legal practise in the European country of his birth. The student wished to study draughting, and Mr. Clarke remarked sympathetically that it seemed too bad he could not continue in the profession for which he had been trained. "No at all," said the newcomer, "I studied law only because my mother insisted. I hated every minute of it, and I'm only too pleased to have the chance now to make my own choice!"

Grads Can Now Get "The Georgian"

"ANDY WARD, editor of The Georgian, tells us that graduates who want to keep up with all the latest news at the college can now subscribe to the weekly paper.

This year there will be 21 issues and a special rate of $1.00 per year is being charged. All subscriptions should be sent to Business Manager, The Georgian, 1441 Drummond street, Montreal.

As Mr. Ward explained—"This looks like The Georgian's biggest year and no one should miss a single issue." Let's help The Georgian staff by sending in our orders now.

High School Grad Wins "Fling" Trophy

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD Gerald Bataille, 974 Old Orchard avenue, was recently awarded the Ian MacKenzie trophy for highland dancing which he brought back to the Province of Quebec for the first time in ten years.

A Sir George Williams High School graduate, he was a pupil of Mrs. Gladys Robertson in the Montreal Caledonian Society highland dancing program. He won the trophy dancing the Highland Fling and sword in competition at Ottawa.

Meet Bill Hamilton

Sir George's First M.P.

SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS COLLEGE is proud of William McLean "Bill" Hamilton . . .

And for good reason—Bill is the first of the college's graduates to be elected a Member of Parliament.

By a 1,206 majority Bill was elected M.P. for Notre Dame de Grace in the recent federal elections—making him the first Progressive Conservative member on the Island of Montreal since 1935.

But after chatting with Bill, you find this likeable fellow is pretty proud of Sir George himself.

As he puts it—"I honestly believe the contacts I made at Sir George played a big part in my victory." He met a lot of people in his campaign "rounds"—more than 10,000 in all—but he admits that re-newing old college friendships was the most pleasant part of it.

It was Bill's first venture into federal politics—but he made sure it was a success. Every morning for weeks prior to the election, he met the electors "face to face" at bus and streetcar stops in his riding. He would introduce himself to them, shake their hands and present them with special campaign pamphlets.

This new method, exhausting though it may have been, paid off in the end. The voters remembered Bill. They admired his determination, his straight forwardness, and above all they knew he was a man they could depend upon.

And you can rest assured the people of N.D.G. aren't sorry they put Bill Hamilton in office. Though Parliament doesn't reconvene until next month, he hasn't stopped working since the election.

His vitality before, during and since the election has amazed all his co-workers and friends.

Just for the records this is how the election results looked after they had been tallied: Bill Hamilton, P.C., 16,391; Fred Whitman, Liberal, 15,185; and Alan Brown, CCF, 1,117.

Incidentally the election was described as "the longest and most energetic Federal election campaign in the history of the riding."

Bill's climb has been a real story of success. He rose from a rank and file member of the Young Men's Section of the Montreal Board of Trade during 1945-50 through vice-president to become the Section's representative on the Montreal City Council . . .

And he also found time to serve as vice-president of St. Andrew's Youth Centre and he was also a big help to his father in administering the Montreal Royals Hockey Club . . .

In October he was still working at his desk as general manager of the Advertising and Sales Executives Club of Montreal. He just lives on work.

Now he goes on to Ottawa—and with him goes the best wishes of Sir George Williams College. It just couldn't have happened to a nicer grad!

MacDonald College

THE PROBLEMS involved in establishing agriculture as an important part of the school program in Quebec rural areas will be studied by a committee made up of Macdonald College staff members and others named by the Provincial Council of Quebec Farm Forum Association, it has been announced.

The committee will attempt to outline a broad curriculum for teaching agriculture that will allow more training on the farm; establish a working relationship between high school vocational agriculture courses and the two-year diploma course at Macdonald College; and study the financial and related problems which hold back the establishment of courses in agriculture.

McGill

MCGILL UNIVERSITY has announced the appointment of Dr. Margaret E. Nix, of Winnipeg, as assistant professor of health and social medicine.

An expert in health education, Dr. Nix has had extensive experience in school teaching in Manitoba and as an exchange teacher at the Knox Institute in Scotland. After obtaining the degree of Master of Public Health at the University of Michigan, she was appointed director of health education in the Department of Public Health and Welfare of Manitoba in 1943.

It Must Be For Knowledge . . .

A COLLEGE education still seems to be as popular as ever.

Both Bishop's and McGill Universities reported a "bumper crop" of students when registration opened in September.

At the Lennoxville university, officials say enrollment is the greatest in history—with classes filled to overflowing.

At McGill nearly 1,000 freshmen registered for courses in arts, science, and engineering. They began studies a week ahead of the upperclassmen.

U. of M.

APPPOINTMENTS and promotions of 22 medical men at the University of Montreal were announced recently by Dr. Wilbrod Bonin, dean of the Faculty of Medicine, following official approval by the Board of Governors of the university.

Dr. Gerard Belanger was appointed professor of obstetrical clinics at the Hospital de la Misericorde.

Appointed associate professors were: Dr. S. Robert Cailloux, obstetris; Fernand Cote, psychiatry; Alfred LeRoy, obstetrics; Gaston Loignon, psychiatry; Alcide Pilon, psychiatry; Germain Pinsonneault, radiology; Albert Royer, Paediatrics, and Julien Tetreault, obstetrics.

Promoted to assistant professor were: Drs. Maurice Belisle, medicine; J. Antoine Blais, medicine; Raymond Blais, oto-rhino-laryngology; Joseph Duplessis, paediatrics; Guy Fortin, anaesthesia; Louis Joseph Gauthier, paediatrics; Paul Guertin, oto-rhino-laryngology; Simon Lauze, pathology; Leonard Legault, anaesthesia; Rene Letienne, anaesthesia; Leopold Long, medicine; Gaspard Morin, paediatrics and Andre Robert, experimental medicine and surgery.

CBC "Airs" Sir George

A SPECIAL broadcast was aired over the International service of the C.B.C. in September giving European listeners the "inside story" of Sir George.

According to Alumni President Gordon Donaldson the program, narrated by Marjorie Schwartz, pointed out that the college is unique in two respects. One, that it ranks first in Canada in number of evening college graduates and secondly the splendid student-professor relationship that has always existed.

The broadcast was beamed particularly to English-speaking listeners in Europe and will in no small way help to spread the name of our college. Many thanks to the CBC.

Two Percent of Grads Still Job Hunting

ACCORDING to a Canadian Press dispatch, quoting the federal Labor Department, only about two per cent of Canada's 1953 crop of College graduates are still looking for jobs.

Of more than 12,000 graduates, 254 were registered with National Employment Service early in August. The department said some of these actually were working and looking for better jobs.

Besides the graduates, practically all of the 42,000 undergraduates had found summer work.

In some types of graduates, there were not enough to meet the demand. There were 461 electrical engineering jobs available and only 235 candidates. Shortages also were evident in other engineering professions.

INDONESIA would get aid from the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States and Canada for the first time under a proposal adopted in Cleveland by the YMCA's international committee in September.

The 150 committee members ended a two-day session by approving a plan to send a representative to Indonesia and to supply financial aid.

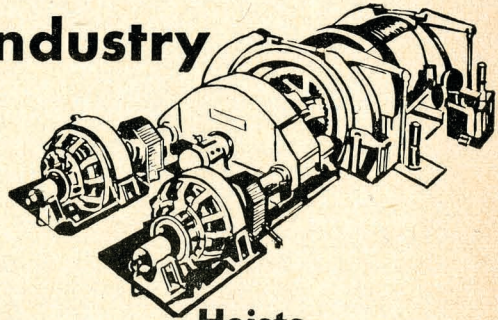

Two vacancies were filled on the 22-member executive committee.

Placement Office Busy Finding Jobs

WITH ANOTHER college year in full swing, interviews with job-hunting students are running well above the year-round average of 10 a day, William Campbell, placement officer in George Williams College, announced recently.

The placement office, located in the college building on Drummond street, is staffed by the National Employment Service and maintained to help students find the jobs they need while they continue their studies. The majority of the students at the college work full or part-time, and most of them are fully self-supporting during their college years.

The job picture is generally bright for students this year, particularly in white collar office jobs. Top rates are offered for typists and clerical workers. Some students, especially those nearing the end of their courses, are anxious to start up the ladder with jobs in fields related to their studies, and Mr. Campbell is now job-hunting on behalf of some science students.

It isn't always possible to find the job tailor-made for the applicant. A student in the Evening Division who works a full day cannot afford to spend an hour on the streetcar to and from work and have any hope of getting to his classes at night. Odd jobs usually don't fill the bill either, as Sir George students, those in the Evening Division particularly, are adults who are coming back to finish their education while they continue to work at regular jobs. They are much more mature than the college boy who wants to work for a few hours now and then to pay out his allowance.

Alumni Total Stands At $12,531

AT A recent executive meeting of the Alumni it was announced that a total of $12,531.00 had been received for the college building fund. President Gordon Donaldson said that contributions were still being received.

It was also learned that a social get-together would likely be held sometime in the fall for alumni members. The executive also discussed a recent proposal to change the title "Association of Alumni" to "Graduates' Society of Sir George Williams College."

cently, but at the same time they did their part for a worthy cause.

The first-year students were dispatched to Red Feather agencies equipped with mops, pails and paint brushes. Then they spent the day at clean-up, mop-up and paint-up chores at boys' clubs and community centres under the watchful eyes of "slave-driving" upper-classmen.

College tradition taboos any "dangerous or humiliating" hazing but a crowded week of activities was set up to rub some of the green off the "green-as-grass" newcomers.

From all reports the freshmen did themselves proud and Red Feather officials were satisfied with the completed job.

Grad N. Zollner Dies in London. Ont.

FLIGHT CADET NEIL ZOLLNER, of Valois, a Sir George Williams College graduate, died in London, Ont., hospital September 3rd, a week after he had contracted bulbar polio.

A funeral service for the 21-year-old cadet was held Monday, Sept. 7, at 3 p.m. in the Valois Anglican Church. Besides his parents, of 72 King's Road, Valois, he is survived by a brother.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Zollner, were the object of an emergency search while they were on their vacation after it was learned that Neil had been stricken with the disease.

They had left home for a leisurely motor trip to the R.C.A.F. station at Centralia to see Neil graduate, not knowing he had become ill.

They learned of his condition when they arrived at relatives in Hamilton and immediately rushed to London where he had been put in an iron lung because his chest muscles were failing.

Neil was a graduate of Montreal West High School, joining the R.C.A.F. more than a year ago. A popular figure at college, he will be missed by his many friends.

Record Number Enrol at "Mac"

TWO HUNDRED and fifty prospective school teachers have settled into classes at Macdonald College's School for Teachers, several of them former Georgians.

A first count indicated that the school is facing its biggest year with 60 more than last year.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, told the new group that never before had teachers been called upon to assume as heavy responsibilities as they will face.

The director of the school, Prof. D. C. Munroe, outlined procedure governing admission of students to the school and the rules of the college.

"Hazing" Hits Frosh

AFTER they read this a lot of alumni members will be happy that they're not back at college again.

"Hazing" activities at Sir George have just finished and according to freshmen and freshettes they went through quite an ordeal.

For a nine-day period the first-year boys had to wear a "bowler", carry a cane and blow bubbles from a mouthful of bubble-gum when instructed by an upperclassman. He was also seen kissing the hand of his "elders"—all these antics were part of their initiation to the College.

The first-year girls had to wear a maroon and gold ribbon draped over their shoulders, apply a liberal amount of make-up and sweet perfume and wear name tags pinned to their dresses.

Those who didn't follow instructions paid for their "crimes" at a Frosh Trial, Oct. 9. After that the college was back to normal and everyone returned to their studies.

5,653 Students Registered

ENROLMENT at the college and its schools this year increased by 320 over last year's total, D. B. Clarke, registrar, announced recently as registration came to an end.

Enrolment figures follow: day college, 631; evening college, 2,794; evening high school, 1,138; evening elementary school, 97; day business school, 155; evening business school, 685; day art school, 33; and evening art school, 120.

Night Classes in Japan Too

A NOTED professor at Japan's oldest university said in an interview at Sir George that evening classes were "nothing new" in that country.

Dr. Sumie Kobayashi, professor emeritus at Keio University, Tokyo, on a tour of Canadian colleges, noted that since the end of the war adult evening classes had grown "well beyond their pre-war level."

Dr. Kobayashi's first stop in Montreal was at Sir George Williams College where he was greeted by Dr. K. E. Norris, principal. He was later taken on a tour of the college. Dr. Norris said the Japanese educator took "a very keen interest" in the Canadian educational system.

Later he paid a visit to Msgr. Olivier Maurault, rector of the University of Montreal, and Cyril F. James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University.

The doctor was on a 10-day tour to survey, what he describes as, "the trends in Canadian education to discover the strengths and weaknesses of learning in the free world."

He said that in Japan an educational system was now in effect, whereby a student could attend the first nine years of school without charge. He pointed out that the pupil only has to pay for his textbooks.

The doctor said that prior to the war only a six-year compulsory education program was in effect.

"It may surprise you to know that we have copied the Canadian co-ed system in most of our large colleges," he said. "At our institution which, incidentally, is more than 100 years old, we have found the co-ed system has worked very well."

He also noted that the Japanese student had taken an increased interest in the English language. "Before the war we taught Dutch as a secondary language, but since 1946 the English language has taken over," he commented.

Dr. Kobayashi travelled to Quebec

Frat Agrees to Limit "Hazing"

STUDENTS and alumni from 43 Canadian and United States colleges have moved to limit "hazing" in their fraternity to limits of "common decency" accepted by "honorable men," a BUP report said recently.

Representatives of 18,000 members of Phi Kappa Sigma met at the 103-year-old fraternity's 71st convention in September and were unanimous in condemning "hell weeks" which have resulted in injury or death to the victim.

"It marks a sober approach to the problem by the students themselves," said Edgar M. Draper, of Seattle, Wash., the frat's Grand Alpha.

He said students themselves had demanded a constitutional change to wipe out the "bad reputations" some frats have earned in their initiation ceremonies.

Students Not Heavy Drinkers Report Shows

ACCORDING to a Yale study college students drink far less and far less often than many people imagine.

The study also says that when they do drink it is almost entirely because of their backgrounds, and has little to do with the fact that they are in college.

Parents' examples, parents' advice, religion, national origin, family income and the customs of the social group from which they came—these were found in the study to be the important factors in whether a college student drinks or how much he drinks.

The study was conducted by the Yale Centre of Alcoholic studies, with some 16,000 students taking part from 27 colleges throughout the U.S.

City, where he studied educational methods at Laval University. From there he continued to Toronto and Ottawa, where he wound up his tour.

On his return to Japan he plans to write and lecture on his findings. "I'm sure I'll have a lot to talk about," he said.

783 Students Pass Undergrad Tests

THE PASS list released recently by the college showed that 783 students, in both the day and evening divisions, obtained passing marks in first, second and third year courses.

The list or the 1952-53 term was made up of 450 students in the evening division and 333 in the day section.

A Story of Challenge

FOR THE second time in half a dozen years, a Canadian history has appeared, "Canada, a Story of Challenge," by Professor J. M. S. Careless, of the University of Toronto. "Why," the average Canadian may wonder, "should we, already acclaimed as one of the important powers in the world, now begin writing our history? Surely, we have histories enough?"

We have histories enough. We have, in fact, too many histories. We have histories printed in Toronto and Quebec and Winnipeg and British Columbia and Halifax. Most of them, until now, have reflected, to an unfortunate degree, their site of printing. The reason why Professor D. G. Creighton's "Dominion of the North" and Professor Careless' "Canada" are welcomed is because they seek to go beyond sectional differences, to provide texts that can be useful everywhere in Canada.

To avoid the racial and religious disputes that are caused by regional textbooks, Canadian primary schools have, in many cases, given up the teaching of real Canadian history. They console themselves with innocuous—and misleading—list of names, dates, battles and discoveries. This is not history.

After 1760, sighs the schoolchild, nothing happens. And the adult Canadian, because he gets no Canadian history after grammar school, agrees.

This is a tragic misunderstanding. Mackenzie went to the Arctic and Fraser to the Pacific in canoes; Quebec French-Canadians and Ontario English-Canadians repelled American invaders in the War of 1812; Canadian timber helped build Nelson's navy while Maritime clipper-ships became famous around the world; politics were hot, and the rebellions of 1837 did not cool them; Montrealers burned the parliament buildings in 1849. All this happened after 1760.

And what could be more courageous than the banding-together of the four eastern colonies into a Dominion with an avowed aim of linking together the whole northern half of this continent? And what could be more magnificent than the fact that they did it?

Canadians delight in recounting instances of American ignorance of Canada. The sad truth is they are rather ignorant of Canada themselves. The production of such books as Professor Careless' history may help to remedy that situation.
